POP-UPS BOSTON ALLSTON

The Breakfast Club

Provided

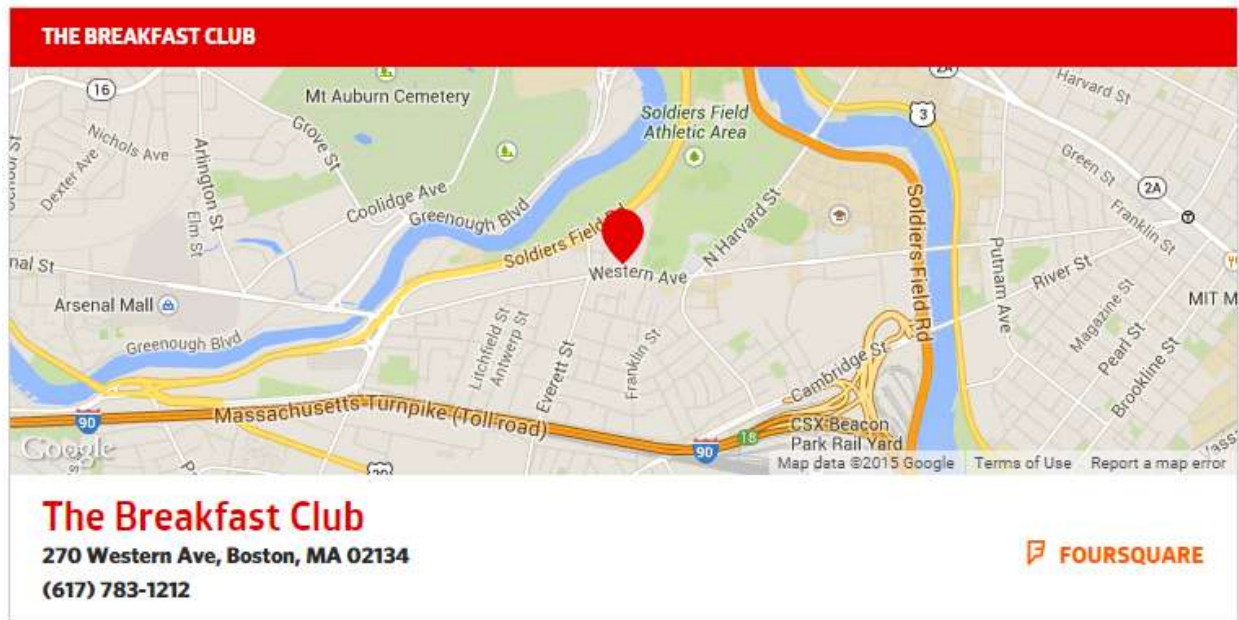

Breakfast for dinner, of course.

Allston diner The Breakfast Club will soon be opening its doors for 6 p.m. dinners on the first Monday of the month, at least for March through May, serving themed four-course breakfast menus. On the boozy, brunchy side of the equation, there will be mimosas and Narragansett Autocrat Coffee Milk Stout.

Each dinner will be centered around a holiday or season — St. Patrick's Day, Easter, and spring, respectively. The first dinner, for example, will include dishes like Lucky Charms parfait, Bailey's French toast, and Irish coffee milkshakes. Tickets are \$35 and available on Eventbrite.

As the name suggests, The Breakfast Club is a haven for '80s pop culture, and owner George Athanasopoulos has decorated the restaurant with a wide variety of memorabilia.
